WELCOME MESSAGE

JACK SEYMOUR,
President of the Royal Agricultural Society of Victoria

WELCOME to the fabulous 2004 Royal Melbourne Show.

We are celebrating the fact that this is our 149th Royal Show — and that we will welcome our 48-millionth visitor this year.

As we prepare for the long-awaited redevelopment of the Showgrounds in a joint venture with the Victorian Government, we look forward to celebrating what makes Victoria great.

The Show is the state's premier public event, offering opportunities to experience the best Victoria has to offer in Rural Life, Animals, Fun & Learning, Taste & Style, Carnival and Entertainment.

These are the Six Worlds which make up one great show.

We have improved on the new look and layout we introduced last year. The theme concept is aimed at enriching your Show experience by making it easier to get around with easy-to-follow signs and colour coding.

Each precinct features new attractions and entertainment while retaining the traditional elements that have long been at the heart of the Show.

The central feature, as always, is the animals. More than 10,000 animals will be on show, including dairy and beef cattle, horses, sheep, goats, aparcas, dogs, poultry, pigeons and small animals. The Poll Dorset sheep breed is celebrating its 50th anniversary of showing.

Entertainment will be led in spectacular fashion by Shrek, who will be "live" every day on his own special stage.

The Main Arena will be alive with MotorMania featuring the Monster Truck Car Crush, the Holden Stormriders, Moto-X and Bush Games. The Show pavilions are another special feature not to be missed.

It's going to be another truly great blend Show bringing provincial Victoria and Melbourne together.

Facelift: the Melbourne Showgrounds are to undergo a $101 million refurbishment.

Solid grounds for a big celebration

A message from Premier STEVE BRACKS

OVER the past 149 years, Victorians have been touched by the thrill and adventure of the Show. Every year, more than 500,000 Victorians and interstate visitors pass through the gates and experience the excitement of the animal competitions or the spectacular sights of the carnival.

This year's Show marks another exciting step in the redevelopment of our beloved Showgrounds. The Victorian Government's commitment of $101 million will provide a well-needed refurbishment, as well as promote opportunities in agribusiness and help Victorians share country-city stories and experiences.

The Victorian Government and the Royal Agricultural Society are working together so the showgrounds will be an even better home for our Royal Melbourne Show and the traditions we have come to treasure.

The Showgrounds will also become a versatile exhibition precinct. That means investing in a sustainable future for the showgrounds — building versatile facilities, attracting more events, and showcasing Victoria's finest produce.

Early this year, a shortlist of three bidders was announced, and we have just received their proposals for an improved Showgrounds. These bids are being evaluated and the winning bid will be announced soon, with construction scheduled for completion in 2006.

The 2004 Royal Melbourne Show promises to reach new heights, bringing the best from around our State into Melbourne.

The Show's theme this year is Six Worlds — One Great Show. It will provide family fun with six precincts — Animals, Carnival, Entertainment, Rural Life, Fun & Learning and Taste & Style.

Also at the Show is the Victoria Government Expo. Find out the latest on the Showgrounds redevelopment and visit many of the other Government departments and agencies on display.

Country life at its best

SEE the best rural Victoria has to offer at The Weekly Times Victorian Agribusiness Showcase.

The showcase will take visitors on an interactive adventure through Australia's farming industry.

And while you're there, don't forget to visit The Weekly Times stand.

The Weekly Times is Australia's largest selling rural newspaper and its stand will feature a range of rural publications that capture the essence of country living.

Known as the Bible of the Bush, The Weekly Times is this year celebrating its 135th birthday.

And to mark the occasion there will be showbags, balloons, a colouring-in competition and a great football handball challenge.

While you are there, check out the newspaper's fantastic subscription offer. Pay $75 in advance and you will receive The Weekly Times for 52 weeks, plus receive a free copy of Dr Miriam Stoppard's Family Health Guide, valued at $79.95.

You'll find The Weekly Times Victorian Agribusiness Showcase opposite the carpark entrance.

SHOW & TELL

SHANE WARNE, Australian Test cricketer

LIKE most kids, I was only allowed two or three showbags each year. My brother and I used to spend a week working out which one was the best value and which one we really wanted. The Sambo and Twistles bags were my favourites. I also used to really enjoy the sideshows. My friends and I always had competitions on them and it was always a contest to see who could win the most things.

They were fun times and I hope the children of today have as much fun at the Show as we did.

PIGTAILS

Where: Animal Nursery
When: Daily
Map Ref: P3

HOW much do you know about pigs? There are a few porkies associated with the mud-loving creatures.

The term "sweating like a pig", for example, is a misnomer. Pigs do not have sweat glands so they can't sweat.

They wallow in mud, which provides a cooling effect for up to two hours.

Pigs are sensitive to temperature changes, which can affect food requirements as well as growth rates. For every 6C increase in temperature above 23C, food intake decreases by 1kg a day.

Find out more about these creatures in the Pigtails Exhibit, which demonstrates the life cycle of pigs and features a sow and litter, weaners and porkers.

Other big names include the Powerpuff Girls, Scooby Doo and Garfield and Odie.

From 10.30am to 6.30pm every day, children of all ages can watch their favourite characters in fully choreographed shows and meet and greets.

The stars of the show

SHREK, DONKEY AND PUSS IN BOOTS LIVE

EVERYONE'S favourite ogre, Shrek, will be joined by everyone's favourite chatterbox, Donkey, and best friend Puss In Boots.

Watch as Donkey and Puss In Boots try to convince Shrek to allow a concert in his swamp.

See how Shrek reacts when he finds out he is the headline act.

Join all the characters you have grown to love from the movies with two live, 30-minute Shrek shows a day.

POWERPUFF GIRLS

WITH great songs and an energetic dance show, you'll be on your feet bopping to the beat as the Powerpuff Girls fly into action.

Here's what happens in their show: Professor Utonium is trying to make the perfect little girl by mixing sugar and spice and all things nice.

But when he accidentally knocks in chemical X, he creates the Powerpuff Girls who each have super powers.

Now Blossom, Buttercup and Bubbles must fight the evil Mojo Jojo who has stolen top secret documents and escaped to the moon.

With the help of Professor Utonium and his new rocket, they are able to take off after him, but Mojo Jojo captures the Professor.

Will the Powerpuff Girls be able to save him in time and recover the secret documents?

Head to Kids Own to find out.

GARFIELD AND ODIE

HE'S big, orange and fluffy, so he'll be hard to miss at the Show.

Garfield will be on stage to entertain children with his side-kick Odie. In their show, Jon is trying hard to organise a surprise party for Garfield's birthday. It's difficult to keep it a secret, but with the help of Odie and the audience, they've planned it all.

Garfield thinks they have all forgotten his birthday, so in his usual manner he has organised his own party with lasagne, cake and games.

But what will they do with two of everything?

Have twice as much fun.

SCOOBY DOO

WHERE are you?

The answer's easy. He's out entertaining children at this year's Show.

But who knows when the huge, lovable great dane might turn up?

Scooby Doo will be wandering around to meet boys and girls on the grounds at Kids Own, but remember not to scare him because sometimes he is even scared of his own shadow.

Scooby can be shy, but he loves cuddles, handshakes and high 5s.

Keep your eyes peeled for Scooby Doo and don't be shy — say hi during his meet and greets.

GOLD STAGE ENTERTAINMENT

Where: Centre Point Lawn
When: Sept 16-26

THE music of John Denver, Neil Diamond and Elvis Presley will make its Show debut this year, courtesy of Issi Dye.

Songs such as Incense, A Simple Song and Little Queenie launched Dye's solo career in the 1960s.

Now the Australian singer will showcase jazz, rock and swing in his latest stage show, which pays tribute to these international music legends.

"The visitors to this year's Show will find a cross-section of entertainment to be enjoyed — from the waltzes of Vera Lynn, the swing of Dean Martin to the rock 'n' roll style of Roy Orbison, Johnny O'Keefe and Buddy Holly," Dye says.

He has fond memories of the Royal Melbourne Show, and is looking forward to performing for the large crowds.

"As a Melbourne boy who grew up with exciting yearly visits to the Show, it has always been my vision to be a part of the entertainment that people can enjoy."

The Gold Stage on Centre Point Lawn will be the place to catch Dye and his cast of entertainers.

Spectacular: horse riders show their skills in the Bush Games.

See the ham actors

IS IT a bird? A plane? It's a superham. The diving and racing pigs that wowed audiences at last year's Show are back for 11 days of performances.

They debuted in Melbourne after knock-out appearances at the Sydney, Adelaide and Brisbane Shows, under the expertise of trainers Michael and Tom Vandeleur.

"We use the Large White variety of pig for racing. We've found them to be a smart, responsive and quick-witted animal," Vandeleur says.

DIVING & RACING PIGS

Where: Mitchell Well
When: Sept 16-26
Map Ref: G5

The pigs are selected when they are about eight weeks old and are trained for about four weeks.

The star of the show is Miss Piggy, the Esther Williams of the pig-diving pool. She makes a regal entrance to the stage and then scampers up to the diving platform to execute the Pork Belly Flop after flying through the air.

Not to be outdone are the racing pigs. When the races are about to begin, the pigs leave their enclosures at the starter's call, head to the barriers and wait to be fitted with their racing colours.

The pigs cover a 36m track in little over five seconds. It's just the oinkment if you feel like a laugh.

Side show alert: precision drivers will be in action at the Show.

Revved up, ready to go

DON'T park too close to the Melbourne Showgrounds this year. You might find tyre marks across your windscreen.

Fans will finally see Sampson, the car-crushing monster truck, make its Melbourne outdoor debut at MotoMania at the Showgrounds' Main Arena.

Standing 3m tall, with 1.3m tyres and driven by a super-charged 454 Chevy engine, Sampson aims to send anything in its way straight to the scrap heap.

Formerly a humble Toyota Hilux ute, Sampson was converted into a monstrous car-crusher by four-time Australian Mad-racing champion Sam Xerub.

Over the past six years, Xerub's monster truck has crushed, crashed and smashed its way through cars locally and around the world.

"I can't wait to get to the Showgrounds because it will be on the Main Arena," Xerub says.

"All my Melbourne shows have been in stadiums. This means I can really have some fun with Sampson during the Show and cut loose."

The Holden Stormriders will perform high-speed crossovers, tight formation driving and ramp-to-ramp jumps.

Creating the electrifying atmosphere that has been entertaining generations of Showgoers with more than 8000 appearances since 1969, the Holden Stormriders will be a MotoMania highlight.

"It's as popular now as it was 30 years ago," Holden Stormriders manager and team founder Lloyd Robertson says.

"The great thing is that people keep coming back year after year.

"It's a bit like going to watch any high-level sport - it's the thrill of watching a professional make something look so easy you'd love to be able to do it yourself."

Reins of power

Top notch: Penny Verco won last year's Garryowen Equestrienne Turnout.

A RECORD number of women will contest the Garryowen Equestrienne Turnout at the Melbourne Show this year.

Named after the champion horse which died in a stable fire in Mentone in 1934, this year's competition marks the 70th anniversary of the event.

Violet Murrell, Garryowen's owner, also died while attempting to rescue her prized performer.

Murrell, one of Victoria's most accomplished horsewomen, was well-known for her high standards of dress and presentation.

A women-only event, horses that are entered in the Garryowen must be at least 14 hands in height.

Judges vote for the horse and rider that look and work together the best.

Competition winners are sometimes decided by a fraction of a point, so attention to detail is crucial.

The turnout

THE Garryowen is an event in which competitors turn out with their mounts and best riding equipment and clothing, which is referred to as hunting attire.

Three or four heats, each with up to 20 riders, are held over the day, with riding order determined at a draw a week before the event.

The first rider approaches the starting area, dismounts, then leads her horse to the judges.

GARRYOWEN

Where: Main Arena

When: Tuesday, Sept 21

Map Ref: J3

She is then scrutinised by the costume judge, who confirms the rider's jacket is hand-made, even checks the stitches to make sure they are even, and ensures that black-top boots are in pristine condition.

Marks are deducted for creases in any part of the attire, and sleeve lengths are measured.

While the rider is getting the once over, the conformation judge checks the horse conforms to standards and proportions by assessing overall shape and appearance.

Saddlery is also judged with points deducted if a saddle's leather is not polished and supple or if it sits too tight or too loose on the horse. Straps, stirrups and bridles also come under intense scrutiny.

The workout

AFTER the first stage of judging, the rider mounts the horse and begins the riding component known as the workout. Beginning with a walk, the horse is taken through a series of trots and canters at various sections of the course.

A rider must not appear to be straining or struggling to keep her horse in check.

Balance and composition of horse and rider are also important. It is no good having a tall girl on a small horse and vice versa.

Winning the Garryowen

PREPARATION of horses is often done by trainers.

Former racehorses, usually geldings, have the temperament best suited to the training and usually produce excellent results.

Riders also normally compete on horses that they do not own and have not trained.

Penny Verco, last year's winner and one of the competition's youngest, was an exception.

Not only did Verco own and train Inferno, the horse was a mare rather than a typical gelding.

Even Verco's hunting attire defied the odds in a competition in which thousands of dollars can be spent on just the right clothing.

"All the gear was secondhand and miraculously fitted, right down to the length of the girth and the size of the long boots," Verco says.

Her win has created an air of anticipation for this year's Garryowen competition.

SHOW & TELL

NAOMI ROBSON, Host of Today Tonight

I HAVE fond memories of going to the show when I was a kid. We'd always go to the baby animal enclosure and I remember enjoying the cheese hall for some strange reason.

Showbags were a big part of what my brother and I looked forward to, but the rides were what we really went for. The Mad Mouse used to scare the heck out of me, but I'd still queue up for a go every time.

Another thing I recall vividly is the smell - a mixture of farmyard, hot donuts and hot dogs and the promise of being able to eat unlimited junk food.

HORSES

Where: Various locations, including the Main Arena
When: Sept 16-26

MUSICAL chairs and sack races are probably not the type of competitions you'd associate with horses, but anything is possible at the Show.

As well as riding, jumping and camp-drafting are some more unusual competitions.

In the tradesmen's and delivery horses section, horse and driver replicate the original milkman's cart.

Horses are fitted with original harnesses, drivers wear period clothing and carts are loaded up like they were in the old days.

Milkcarts contain milk vats, ladies and dairy utensils all ready for judging.

Then there are the shetland pony steep-chase races.

What horse and rider lack in size and age they make up for in competitiveness.

Horseplay: Shetland ponies such as this one will be a drawcard at the Show.

Young riders wear jockey silks as they jump hay bales and show all the promise of future racing winners.

The rescue race has riders galloping to retrieve a person at the end of a track before making a dash for the finish line.

The trickiest part is that the person must leap on to the horse without it stopping.

As for musical chairs, songs are blasted over the Main Arena while horse and rider circle the chairs.

Once the music stops, the rider jumps off and races to a chair while leading the horse behind them.

So expect a scramble - and a lot of fun during events both on the sidelines and in the centre of the Main Arena.

SHEEP, GOATS & ALPACAS

Where: Meaklim Pavilion
When: Sheep and goats, Sept 16-20. Alpacas, Sept 23-26.
Map Ref: E4

IF YOU think sheep provide us only with wool for footy scarves and socks, get down to the Meaklim Pavilion.

More than 20 breeds will show off their versatility — providing long, short, fine and coarse wool types that can be used for anything from clothes to carpets.

And find out why some sheep provide the best meat.

The hornless Poll Dorset sheep, veterans of the Show, are this year's feature breed.

The Blue Ribbon for Poll Dorsets at the Melbourne Show is a sought-after prize because winners from Sydney, Adelaide and the Australian Wool and Sheep Show in Bendigo compete.

Go for goats

AUSTRALIA is the world's biggest exporter of goat meat, with Asia being our largest customer.

Three types of goat appear at the Show; dairy, boer and angora.

The boer goat is bred for meat production, and angora fleece is among the most prized of fibres.

The anglo nubian, this year's goat feature breed, is an all-purpose goat used for meat, milk and hide production.

Check out alpacas

THIS is the largest alpaca show open to the Australian public. Find out why these unusual-looking animals are no longer just novelty items.

Two breed types are represented at the Show. The huacaya and the suri, which is covered in fibre similar to dreadlocks.

Fibre comes in a range of natural colours: white, silver, grey, brown and black.

Be warned — alpacas spit. Sometimes a female will spit at a male if she doesn't welcome his intentions.

CATTLE COMPETITION

Where: The Weekly Times Undercover Judging Ring
When: Daily (except Sept 22)
Map Ref: G2

ALMOST 1200 cattle will be in the beef, dairy and beef carcass competitions.

Handlers will be judged for showmanship, animal/handler relationship, preparation and cleanliness.

The competitions are in The Weekly Times undercover judging ring.

Beef cattle

RED poll and salers are the British and European feature breeds.

Red poll has been in Australia for 100 years and is an amalgamation of Norfolk and Suffolk reds. Initially used for dairy, they are excellent meat producers.

Judges look for colour, preferably a deep red, and the nose must be flesh-coloured.

Salers were first recorded as a breed hundreds of years ago in France. They are one of the purest of all European breeds.

Dairy cattle

HOLSTEINS account for 40 per cent of the dairy herd.

On average they produce 6231 litres of milk, 243kg of fat and 200kg of protein a year.

Jerseys originated on Jersey in the English Channel and average 4520 litres of milk, 229kg of fat and 169kg of protein a year.

Ayrshires, guernseys, brown swiss and Australia's Illawarra, can also be found at the show.

In the pavilions

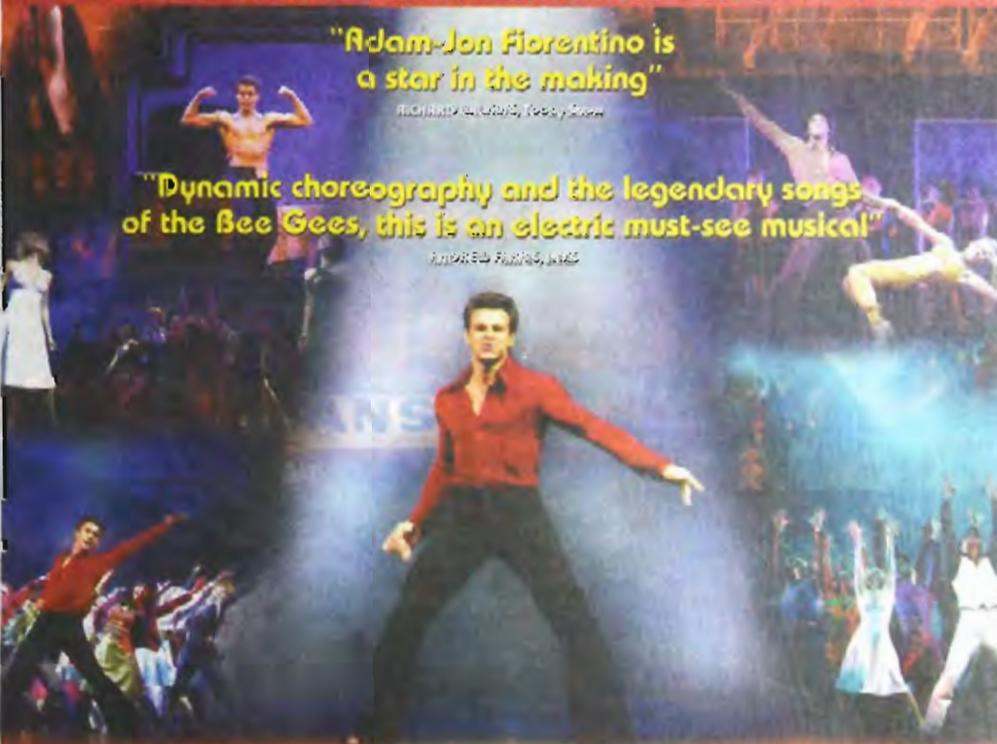

COMPETITIONS serve different purposes. While winning ribbons is an objective, not doing so isn't necessarily a failure.

Farmers and breeders have the chance for their stock to be independently and expertly judged.

This gives invaluable information allowing owners to compare assessments against their own, and enables cattle to be benchmarked against their peers.

Exhibitors will chat to the public, so don't be embarrassed about asking lots of questions.

Feline great for prizes

"THE Royal is the supreme cat show of the year. To win a rosette is special; it also means you've got a very good cat," the cat committee's Show co-ordinator Kaye Bond says.

After 33 years, Bond remains enthusiastic about the cat show and is looking forward seeing more exotic felines.

These include the maine coon, the largest domestic cat, which can weigh a healthy 15kg, the norwegian forest cat, or the selkirk rex; a long-haired rex coated cat.

Breeders will show some of their prized feline companions on the first two days of the show which are displays only, allowing people to wander through the pavilion and admire the magnificent cat collection.

More than 100 kittens will compete for honours in the kitten carnival, on September 18.

Three hundred cats will be preening and purring in preparation for their chance to impress this year's South African judge, Ingrid Dewitt.

Fowl deeds, but some good eggs

THE question that has baffled scientists for centuries, "which came first, the chicken or the egg?" is answered.

Finally there is an end to heated discussion because at this year's show they both come first.

Chickens, along with geese, ducks and turkeys, will compete for honours.

And eggs will be judged for shape, size, shell texture and colour.

Internal appearance is important and yolks should be a "rich bright, golden yellow, free from blood streaks or spots".

The competition is open to keepers of backyard chooks or the more serious commercial breeder.

The Poultry Pavilion's foyer is where you'll find the following displays and interactive exhibits.

Pat chooks and gander at geese

A FREE range area will allow children, and even their mums and dads, to have a wander with some chickens and geese and gently pat the birds as well.

All questions will be answered by stewards and volunteers wearing Ask Me jackets.

A FASCINATING insight into the preparation of poultry.

How many would know that hair-dryers are used to dry feathers, or that nails are trimmed and eyebrows plucked?

Visitors will get an explanation of what judges look for in shows and an appreciation of what makes a successful entrant.

Incubated hatchery

ONE of the most popular exhibits. Watch baby chicks break free from their eggshells.

Hundreds of chickens spring to life in the foyer and it's a great chance for children to ask themselves that perennial question that we thought we'd answered: "Which comes first?"

Best in show: different varieties of dog will compete to catch the judging panel's attention.

Go to the dogs

ABOUT 5000 entrants will participate in the dog show. Unusual dogs such as pomeranians and working dogs such as german shepherds and collies will be in front of the judging panel, which includes officials from South Africa, Argentina and Portugal.

Agility and jumping classes

SOME dogs are assessed on how they conform to the breed standard.

In the agility and jumping classes, they will go over hurdles, through hoops and trigger see-saws, then sit for an allotted time, with their breathless owners urging them on.

Obedience classes

OWNERS enter the judging ring and instruct their dog to sit. They then walk away and the dog that sits the longest wins. In some cases, dogs have lasted up to 10 minutes.

Scout skills are tested when dogs are made to choose an item that was earlier handled by their owner.

Understanding between dog and owner is also examined when a dog is placed in front of two obstacles and, with the use of hand gestures, must decide which one to jump. No verbal prompts are allowed.

Flyball competition

BEST described as a relay race for dogs, the flyball competition is on the main arena on September 26.

Teams of four dogs run along a course with hurdles and tap a spring-loaded board that releases a tennis ball into the air that the dog must catch.

The dog then races to the starting line, triggering a row of motion sensor lights that signal it has crossed. Its eager and salivating teammate can then join in.

Dogs as diverse as jack russells and kelpies can be found on the same team because speed, jumping ability and alertness are sought after.

It is fun for dogs, exhausting for owners and great for spectators.

Pet dog competition

THIS is the chance for your pooch to make it to the top of the dog world by entering the pet dog competition supported by Pedigree and the RSPCA.

Without all the rules and regulations associated with official dog competitions, this is aimed at the less refined canine, an opportunity for cross-breeds and mongrels to show off and steal some of the limelight. Categories include best kept dog, best mannered dog and dog with the waggiest tail.

SHOW & TELL

PETER MITCHELL, Seven News presenter

I FIRST went to the Show in the late '60s with my school, and we were taken into a pavilion where I saw colour television for the first time. The unveiling was hosted by Seven's Brian Naylor. Little did I know I'd be stepping into his shoes on colour television one day.

I also recall going to the Show one Saturday night to see the death-defying demonstration of a man wearing a rocket-propelled backpack. It was ignited and he took off into the sky, flew around for a bit, and landed safely.

The showbags back then were sensational. They weren't made of paper and I remember the "Hobbeys" one always being unbelievable value.

Ride of your life

COKE CARNIVAL

When: September 16-26
Where: Carnival world
Map ref: P8

STRAP yourself in for the biggest, fastest and craziest rides to hit Melbourne.

Six new rides, six new reasons you must get to the show.

The Coke Carnival is not for the faint-hearted. But if you have what it takes, be prepared for the ultimate amusement ride experience.

Let's start with the free fall mania that is taking the world by storm and introduce the Mega Drop.

Mega Drop

THIS awesome machine is not your standard gravity tower where you simply drop to the bottom.

The designers incorporated four downward thrusters for a menacing display of power that fires you down 45 metres in 1.8 seconds at 204km/h, reaching a body-bending 5G-Force.

"It's the ultimate ride experience," owner/operator Lou Osbourne says.

It's the biggest portable ride in Australia, weighing 70 tonnes.

Magnetic brakes stop you when you reach the bottom, so you can't use a possible power failure as an excuse not to take the challenge.

Crazy Mouse Spinning Coaster

SPINNING cars, hairpin turns and a lightning-fast roller track, the Crazy Mouse promises non-stop mini-coaster action.

Operating at Dinosaur Beach Theme Park in Wildwood, New Jersey, as well as Kennywood Park, Pennsylvania, the Crazy Mouse has landed in Australia. It has won a legion of fans with rave reviews across several internet sites.

Hard Rock

WELCOME to the Hard Rock. Swing, spin and enjoy another of Australia's latest rides.

Feel the sensation of the latest technology that matches speed with smooth, swinging rotating movements.

Thrills at top speed: the Mega Drop is one of six new rides at the Show.

Let the Hard Rock take you and your friends on a gyrating journey at 18m in four rotating gondolas accompanied with a spectacular lighting and sound display.

Mega Mix

GET your amusement ride kicks in the giant Mega Mix.

This massive rotating and reverse-spinning disc thrusts all those who dare to take the Mega Mix challenge into a series of gut-churning revolutions.

Thanks to the circular seating arrangement, you can keep an eye on fellow thrill-seekers and take comfort at their fear-stricken faces as they sail through the air praying for the damned thing to stop.

Cliffhanger

DO YOU have what it takes to ride the Cliffhanger?

Australia's only Cliffhanger, and new to the Show, here's your chance to enjoy the world's favourite ride.

Experience the sensation of hanggliding at 70km an hour and at 15m in the air on a ride that will blow your mind and have your stomach tickle your tonsils.

Climb in, secure your straps and get ready for the ride of your life.

Techno Jump

STOP your techno dancing and start your techno jumping.

Horizontal steel arms support cushioned seats. Starting with a deceptively slow hydraulic swoosh and building to a winding surge as the arms raise vertically, your body is captive to the Techno Jumps thunderous rhythms.

Make sure this ride is on your list of must-do things as carnival enthusiasts in Australia and overseas rate it as one of the best.

Favourites

OF COURSE it wouldn't be the same without some of the classic rides that have swung, shaken, twisted and hurled generations of showgoers through the air.

Some of you have lost your lunches along the way, others a bit of dignity, but it is all part of the amusement world's rite of passage.

Each year thousands of people walk through the gates and ask where our most popular rides are.

Taipan, Slingshot, Waveswinger, Chaos, Ali BaBa — they're all here.

Most showgoers will probably remember their first solo ride on the dodgem cars. It wouldn't be the same without them, and there are two sets this year.

Starship 2000 will be in full force — some of you know it as the Gravitron — along with the unrelenting, vertigo-inducing Thunderbolt. And of course the giant ferris wheel and the chairlift are still crowd-pleasers.

The views from both at night are sensational, particularly as you glide past the carnival with its dazzling light display while enjoying the breathtaking views of Melbourne's skyline.

Splitting chips: catch all the woodchopping action over nine days at the Show.

KR CASTLEMAINE WOODCHOP COMPETITION

Where: Woodchop Arena
When: Sept 17-25
Map Ref: R3

FLASHING axes and flying woodchips — that is the action at the KR Castlemaine Foods woodchop competition.

The event will feature the Australia v New Zealand under-21 Test series, the state of origin matches, plus the spectacular standing block, underhand, tree felling and hard hitting competitions.

See the famous O'Toole, Foster, Gurr and Staib names battle for the Golden Axe grand aggregate trophy over nine days of world-class competition.

New Zealand will be desperate to redeem itself after a 3-0 loss to Australia in last year's under-21 series.

The Test series, now in its ninth year, has become a fierce display of trans-Tasman rivalry.

Marvel at the strength, speed and stamina of the gruelling single and double-handed sawing events in which 375mm and 450mm logs are sawn in a matter of seconds.

Woodchop's future champions will be competing in junior competitions ranging from 9-13 years and 13-16 years. And only time will tell if they have the longevity to compete in the veteran's standing block handicap for over-60s.

The longevity of the KR Castlemaine Foods woodchop competition is certainly not in question and is something of an institution at the show.

It has been drawing enthusiastic crowds since 1911, and this year it has joined with a major corporate supporter that has rural roots going back nearly a century in two states.

The KR Castlemaine Foods Company is one of the major smallgoods suppliers in Australia.

It resulted from the merger last year of Castlemaine Bacon Company, founded at Castlemaine in Victoria, and KR Darling Downs of the Toowoomba region in Queensland, areas in which they provide substantial and continuing community support.

"The new company, KR Castlemaine Foods, is a major supplier to the Australian retail market and catering markets, as well as exporting to a number of Asian markets," general manager sales and marketing Robert Cordy says.

"We are proud of our Australian-owned country heritage and are pleased to continue our long-standing support of the Royal Agricultural Society and its woodchopping events."

Enjoy the tradition, sportsmanship and excitement of a sport Australians call their own and the familiar cry of "axemen, ready 1, 2, 3" at this year's Show.

Full focus on the skills for farming

AGRIBUSINESS

Where: The Weekly Times Victorian Agribusiness Showcase
When: Sept 16-26
Map Ref: C5

THE Royal Agricultural Society's commitment to agriculture in an era of bio-technology, genetic research and computerised mechanisation is once again displayed in the The Weekly Times Victorian Agribusiness Showcase.

A sector that is rich in technology application and innovation, agribusiness is responsible for production of 30 per cent of Victoria's export income and employment of 10 per cent of the state's workforce.

Northern Melbourne Institute of TAFE (NMIT) is the largest, and leading, provider of primary industry training in Victoria.

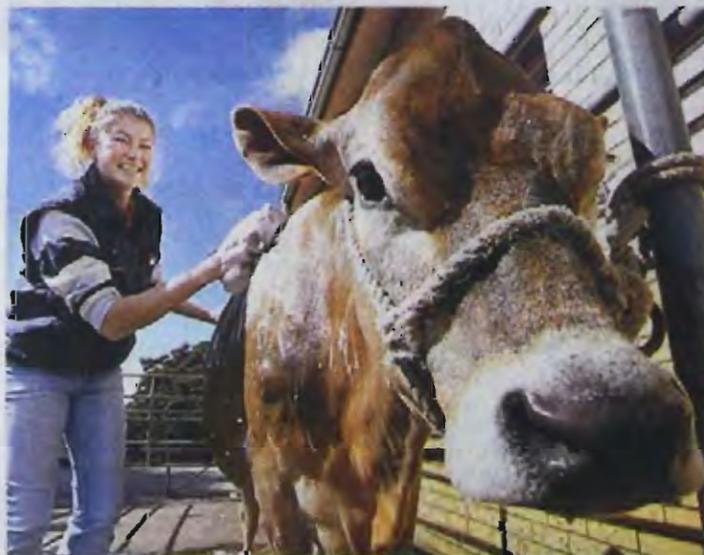

A display of its training trademarks in aquaculture, horticulture and the equine industry will be exhibited in the The Weekly Times Victorian Agribusiness Showcase pavilion.

It also reflects the diversity of its educational experience and its perspective on practical programs.

One of the focuses of NMIT's extensive agricultural training initiatives is its 320ha Yan Yean property where it runs 400 head of cattle — nine of which have been entered in this year's Royal Melbourne Show cattle competition — 100 sheep, 50 boer goats and 50 deer, with some cereal and lucerne crops.

The pavilion will house an impressive display of machinery used on the property, with a special focus on small farm equipment, including that used for harvesting as well as four-wheel bikes and tractors.

NMIT also offers an intensive training program in equine studies. Two electronically-controlled horse simulators which enhance the teaching of equestrian skills will also be in the pavilion.

Show groom: a cow is washed in preparation for judging.

This centre enables NMIT to offer skills and knowledge training beyond the farm gate.

The centre includes a 100-tonne winery and research and wine analysis laboratories, a herbs and essential oils processing facility and a similar facility for processing red meat and fish.

With staff and students from NMIT's Faculty of Earth Sciences at the pavilion, visitors can get information about NMIT's diverse range of study programs (brochures will be available on the institute's full and part-time courses) and see demonstrations of the different, practical aspects of training which support NMIT's teaching programs.

There will be a display of fake grass for golf as well as arboriculture tree-climbing equipment with ropes and rescue gear and floral arrangements created by floristic students.

A small animal nursery with lambs and kids will be in the pavilion to entertain toddlers while older visitors are exploring the exhibits.

MELBOURNE UNIVERSITY PASTURE DISPLAY

THE basis of all profitable animal production is the development and efficient use of pasture. It's the cheapest feed and should be the major food source for farm herds and flocks.

Successful pastures are essential and potentially expensive operations and if they are not done properly, the results will be disappointing.

Melbourne University has to put together a display of different cereal crop species and pastures that are agriculturally significant today.

The display includes clover, grass, lucerne and fescue pasture species and different cereal crops; oats, barley, canola and wheat.

In compiling the Melbourne University pasture display, next to the Epicure enclosure, experts have used a variety of different species to create a dramatic effect.

Pasture management is just one of the topics covered in the Part Time and Lifestyle Farming Courses conducted by the Royal Agricultural Society and Melbourne University that helps new farmers in the industry.

By visiting the display, potential farmers will be able to learn tips from the experts on how to ensure their pastures are profitable.

STUDENT FASHION AND DESIGN AWARDS

Where: Epicure Enclosure
When: Sept 18 and 19
Map Ref: K4

FUTURE stars of fashion will compete for honours in the Student Fashion and Design Awards.

The event will give fashion design hopefuls the chance to present their current collections and get a feel for life on and behind the scenes of the catwalk.

Formal, casual and sleep wear will be modelled by the students in the Epicure Enclosure on September 18.

The students, who hail from various colleges in Victoria, will compete for the best-paraded outfit or garment title.

The judging panel includes Anna Brodie, fashion editor of Citystyle in the Herald Sun.

Victoria's country community of fashionistas will also be in the spotlight. The Wimmera Farm Art fashion parade will feature a collection of unusual garments made from materials and objects found on farms.

The collection aims to prove that you can still be "chic while shearing".

Twine, rubber and shade cloth are some of the items that have been transformed into some funky eye-catching creations.

Shows will be held at 2pm and 3.30pm on September 19.

Ingredients for success

LEARN from your mistakes and try again next year, that is the advice from award-winning cook Anne-Marie Primmer.

Last year she won the McRobert Memorial Award for the fifth time in a row.

The award honours the successful exhibitor in the cookery section of the art and craft competition.

"You can spend a lot of time baking and preparing a cake for the show. It might look good and smell great and you think you might do well, but you don't really know how good it is until it's cut by the judges," Primmer says.

Primmer's preparation began in June. With 45 classes entered, her kitchen will once again be devoted to the cookery competition.

It's a great time for her neighbours as they get to sample new recipes, savour the odd failure and feast on excess muffins, breads, cakes, sponges and other delights as she embarks on another cookery quest.

The beauty of the competition, Primmer says, is that everyone can enter, and everyone's work will be judged and displayed.

"Walking around the pavilion, you can see the pride on people's faces as they point out their work to friends and family," Primmer says.

Take your notebooks to this year's public judging of biscuits, pastries and slices on September 18 and you, too, might be tempted to dust off your oven mitts and become a cookery competition connoisseur.

ART & CRAFT COMPETITION

When: September 16-26
Where: P. B. Ronald Pavilion and Angliss Gallery
Map Ref: J5

Art and craft competition (non-cookery)

THE competition has an array of categories which draw hundreds of entries each year.

Victorians of all ages and backgrounds apply their talents in basketry, bead craft, book binding, calligraphy, ceramics, hand-crafted porcelain dolls, eggshell work and much more.

Where else but at the show can you meander through leatherwork, needlework, leadlight and metalwork displays and stroll past a colourful assembly of toy-making, lace-making and hand-knitting exhibits?

The P.B. Ronald Pavilion houses these creations and becomes a repository for an authentic collection of treasures.

And if you fancy something, you might be able to buy it.

It is the only place that allows you to admire the fine and intricate work made by the deft fingers of the over-70s in their class of the embroidery section; to enjoy the range of oil, acrylic and watercolour paintings on display in the Angliss Gallery and to see an impressive collection of patchwork quilts.

Relax with fine food and drink

Enjoy some of Victoria's best produce and gourmet treats with free entry to the hub of the taste and style precinct.

Sit back with a glass of wine or beer in the mezzanine bar, which offers sweeping views across the main arena as you watch the bush games and grand parades.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Show hours: The Show will be open from 10am to 10pm daily, except the first day (September 16) when the Show closes at 6pm, and the final day, Sunday (September 26), when the Show closes at 8pm. Most pavilions and halls are open from 10am to 8pm, though the Animal Nursery will close at 7pm.

HOW TO GET THERE

Trains: Arrive relaxed for a great day at the Show. Travel by train to the Melbourne Showgrounds in 13 minutes from Flinders St Station. Trains leave Flinders St every 10 minutes from 8.45am each day, returning frequently throughout the day and evening.

Trams: Extra services cater for the Show. Take the No. 57 tram from the terminus at the corner of Flinders and Elizabeth streets in the city to arrive at the front gate of the Showgrounds in Epsom Rd.

Buses: Northern and western suburbs bus lines regularly service area close to the Showgrounds.

Taxis: A taxi ride from the CBD takes about 15 minutes. A taxi rank is located outside the Showgrounds' main entrance in Epsom Road.

Parking: The Flemington Racecourse next to the Showgrounds has space for up to 8000 cars. Parking costs $10 (subject to change). Entry is off Epsom Rd. Car parking at the racecourse is controlled by the Victoria Racing Club, not the RAS. All inquiries should be directed to the VRC.

Internet: Plan your day at the Show by visiting www.royalshow.com.au.

This informative and interactive site has full details of the event, including a complete list of showbags on offer. For further information and all Show inquiries, ph: 1300 656 547 or e-mail: customerservice@rasv.com.au

RURAL FINANCE GRAND PARADES

The Rural Finance Grand Parades, displaying the best livestock, are a spectacle not to be missed. See cattle, horses and other animals parade around the Main Arena as a selection of harness vehicles circle the perimeter.

Times: Friday and Saturday (Sept 17/18) 2.30pm; Tuesday (Sept 21) 2.30pm; Saturday (Sept 25) 2.30pm.

Kidding around: Spidermen Sean, David and Liam Donoghue, of Lysterfield enjoyed the face painting at last year's Show.

Riding high: hiring a stroller saved the day for a tired youngster laden with showbags.

Information sites: The Customer Service Information Centre is in the heart of the Showgrounds at the corner of Plummer Ave and Degraives St (Map ref L6). The modern Hoecker-construction centre allows visitors to readily check the daily program of events, find a particular Show location, or ask any questions that may arise during a visit.

Other information booths are located around the grounds (Map refs C5, H5, K2, L8, R7) or keep your eyes peeled for the roving Show Ambassadors, who will be dressed in red caps and vests (in cool weather, they will also wear red Mountain Mac coats).

Show maps are available from the information booths and from the Show ambassadors.

Where: Main Arena
When: Sunday, September 26
Map Ref: J3

TURN your Sunday into a fun day and join in the festivities.

The Main Arena will be home to entertainment, competitions and displays that celebrate our pastoral and agricultural history.

Heritage Farm Sunday is a chance to experience rural skills and appreciate early settler lifestyle, country folklore and the bush spirit.

Ploughing demonstrations using horses will reveal the skills required for successful manual tilling.

They will also pay tribute to the first competition in 1848 by the Port Phillip Farmers Society which ultimately became the Royal Agricultural Society of Victoria.

Working dog and shearing demonstrations will also be a highlight.

You will see why dogs are an essential part of rural life with demonstrations that highlight their herding skills.

Border collies will show how they round up sheep and kelpies will demonstrate the art of herding crafty and evasive geese.

Being chased by kelpies and collies can often mean one thing for sheep, they're about to be shorn. You can watch it first hand, and discover what happens to wool afterwards with the help of wool classing demonstrations.

During Heritage Farm Sunday you can party like they did in the good old days.

Enjoy the fabulous music of the Blackberry Jam Bush Band, and put your dancing shoes on with the help of The Melbourne Colonial Dancers.

They will be performing and taking you through all the colonial dance steps in what promises to be lots of fun for people of all ages.

Sheaf tossing combines strength, accuracy and a sudden surge of power to toss your sheaf, a 3.6kg bag of wheat wrapped in a hessian bag, over a crossbar mounted on two upright poles.

See some of the best exponents in action with gleaming and sharpened pitchforks competing on the Main Arena.

Pony rides for children will also take place during the day.
